ABOUT RYS

Our team began with two young law students in the year 2017 who had the vision of nation building through imparting quality education by unconventional and interesting means.

We started from the grassroot level and served as Executive Board/ Jury members in conferences held in various areas including Delhi, Ghaziabad, Jodhpur, Sangrur, Moradabad, Ujjain, Rohtak, Sonipat etc., thereafter, we started visiting schools across Delhi NCR with our proposal of initiating Youth Parliaments and Model United Nations for students of middle school and high school. During this journey, our co-founder, Adv Jai Saini, won the 'Best Parliamentarian' award at the 'Mock Parliament 2018' held at the Parliament of India.

LOK SABHA

The Lok Sabha committee at Yuva Sajhedari 2.0 witnessed thought-provoking deliberations on the agenda "Ensuring equal access to quality education for all children." Young delegates put forward insightful perspectives and engaged in spirited debates, reflecting on the importance of bridging educational gaps and creating opportunities for every child. The session highlighted the enthusiasm and awareness of the participants, making it one of the most dynamic discussions of the conference.

LOK SABHA-ACTIVITY

An engaging activity was conducted in the Lok Sabha committee to familiarize participants with the electoral process. Two parties, the Rashtriya Vikas Parishad and the Bharatiya Yuva Ekta Dal, presented their election manifestos. For the activity, parliamentarians stepped into the role of citizens, evaluating the promises of both parties before casting their votes. The election was conducted through a specially created EVM model, giving the delegates a hands-on experience of how democratic voting procedures are carried out. The exercise offered valuable insight into the essence of electoral participation and decision-making.

CREATIVE PRESS

This edition of Yuva Sajhedari 2.0 introduced a unique concept of media houses in the Creative Press committee. Delegates were divided into groups, each forming a media house with distinct portfolios. Working collaboratively, the young reporters, photojournalists, vloggers, memers and cartoonists captured the essence of the conference, offering diverse perspectives through their creative lens. The initiative not only fostered teamwork but also gave participants a sense of ownership in portraying the proceedings.

CREATIVE PRESS-ACTIVITY

One of the highlights was the newspaper-making activity. Each media house compiled a newspaper reflecting their coverage of the committees. These newspapers showcased a blend of reporting, photography, memes, and cartoons, demonstrating the talent and creativity of the young press members. The final outputs were imaginative and engaging, capturing the vibrancy of the event in a truly innovative manner.

WORLD HEALTH ORGANISATION

The WHO committee at Yuva Sajhedari 2.0 held insightful deliberations on promoting child health with special emphasis on illness prevention, hygiene, and nutrition. Delegates came prepared with detailed research and also impressed with their spontaneous responses on the spot. Their ability to think critically and adapt to new scenarios highlighted their awareness and confidence. The session truly reflected how young minds can contribute meaningfully to discussions of global importance.

WHO -ACTIVITY

To make the proceedings more engaging, the committee introduced a fictional member state, Baltopia. A delegate played the role of the Secretary-General of the UN, while another represented Baltopia, pitching why the country should be accepted as a new UN member. Baltopia's commitments, promises, and adherence to international conventions were presented persuasively. After a round of cross-questioning by other representatives, Baltopia successfully gained approval and was declared a member of the United Nations. This creative activity provided delegates with a real taste of diplomacy and international negotiations.

SPORTS AUTHORITY OF INDIA

The SAI committee focused on the agenda of balancing academics and athletics for holistic development. Delegates expressed strong viewpoints on the need for sports alongside studies and how both contribute equally to shaping well-rounded individuals. The debates were engaging and demonstrated the awareness students hold about the importance of all-round development. The attentiveness and enthusiasm of the participants kept the proceedings vibrant throughout the session.

SAI - ACTIVITY

Adding an element of surprise, a crisis was introduced declaring cricket as India's national sport. Delegates rose to the challenge, debating both in favour and against the motion. While some argued for cricket as a unifying national passion, others emphasized the value of promoting diverse sports. The cross-questioning, counterarguments, and collective conclusion brought the committee to life, showcasing how crises sharpen debating and negotiation skills.

CLOSING CEREMONY

The closing ceremony was a graceful conclusion to Yuva Sajhedari 2.0. Our Guest of Honour, Mrs. Santosh Oberoi, the guiding light of Silverline Prestige School, graced the occasion with her presence and words of encouragement. The ceremony featured melodious music and vibrant dance performances, creating a festive atmosphere. The co-founders of Rajdhani Yuva Sansad, Adv. Isha Kapoor and Adv. Jai Saini, also gave a glimpse of the day's proceedings and, through their wise words, enlightened the audience. The event concluded with the felicitation of the Executive Board, Secretariat, and the prize distribution, honouring the hard work and achievements of all.

FUN SESSION

The conference concluded on a joyous note with a lively fun session. Delegates set aside formalities and came together to dance, celebrate, and enjoy moments of friendship. The energy and happiness in the room reflected the success of the day and the bond created among participants. This informal ending gave everyone a chance to relax, interact, and carry home memories of not just debates but also of shared joy and togetherness.

CLOSING NOTE

Yuva Sajhedari 2.0 was not just a conference but a celebration of young voices, ideas, and collaboration. The enthusiasm of the delegates, the guidance of the Executive Board, and the support of the Secretariat made the event a memorable success. As we conclude this edition, we extend heartfelt gratitude to all who contributed to its journey. With each conference, we move one step closer to nurturing responsible, aware, and empowered youth for the future.
