RAJDHANI YUVA SANSAD

GLOBAL PANCHAYAT 2.0

THE NEWSLETTER

August 3 & 4, 2025

What was Global Panchayat 2.0?

Global Panchayat 2.0 unfolded as a vibrant two-day journey of ideas and dialogue, where students from grade 4th to grade 12th came together across 8 diverse committees to discuss, deliberate, and debate on pressing national and global issues. The conference became a platform where young minds stepped into the shoes of parliamentarians, diplomats, policymakers, and thought leaders, presenting perspectives with confidence and creativity. Each committee echoed with passionate arguments, collaborative resolutions, and the spirit of constructive dialogue, making the event not only intellectually enriching but also a true celebration of youth leadership and participatory democracy.

About RYS

The vision of Co - Founders of Rajdhani Yuva Sansad, Jai Saini, Advocate & Isha Kapoor, Advocate behind organising this event is to spread the powerful message that "संवाद ही हल है।" (Dialogue is the only solution).

Through this platform, we aim to instill in our participants the values of critical thinking, respectful discourse, and a deep understanding of national issues, empowering them to be the torchbearers of change. Indian politics and society's youth involvement begins from the words of Mahatma Gandhi, when he asked youngsters to step forward and join the freedom struggle.

CHIEF GUEST

Shri Ram Niwas Goel Ji

We were truly honoured to have Shri Ram Niwas Goel Ji, Former Speaker of the Delhi Vidhan Sabha, as our Chief Guest for the inaugural ceremony.

His enlightening words set the perfect tone for the conference, inspiring every student to think critically, voice their opinions with confidence, and contribute meaningfully to society. He motivated the young participants to see themselves as leaders of tomorrow and reminded them that dedication, knowledge, and dialogue are the strongest tools for nation-building. His presence was a true source of encouragement and pride for the entire gathering.

GUEST OF HONOUR

Mr. Shiv Vats Ji

We were delighted to have Mr. Shiv Vats, popularly known as @englishwalesirrr, grace our valedictory ceremony with his presence. His thoughtful words and engaging address beautifully captured the essence of the two-day conference, leaving the students inspired to carry forward the spirit of learning, dialogue, and innovation beyond the event. He encouraged the participants to nurture their curiosity, keep questioning, and channel their creativity into meaningful action, making his presence a fitting and memorable conclusion to the conference.

OPENING CEREMONY

The opening ceremony of the conference was a grand and graceful affair that beautifully set the tone for the days ahead. The auspicious lighting of the lamp, followed by the soulful Saraswati Vandana, invoked blessings of wisdom and knowledge.

The respected Chairman Sir, Mr. J.K. Gaur, delivered an inspiring address, while the warm welcome note by our Principal Ma'am, Ms. Nidhi Gaur, filled the gathering with pride and enthusiasm. A vibrant dance performance added colour and energy to the occasion, leading to an insightful overview of the vision and journey of RYS by its Co-Founders, Adv. Isha Kapoor and Adv. Jai Saini. The ceremony reached its pinnacle as the gavel struck, with Secretary General Ms. Shreya Kapoor, joined by the Deputy Secretary Generals, officially declaring the conference open amidst resounding applause.

LOK SABHA (JUNIOR)

The Lok Sabha Committee, chaired by Ms. Srishti Singh, saw the energetic participation of students from classes 4th to 6th as they discussed Evaluating the Merits of Online Classes versus Traditional Classes. The young delegates confidently compared the flexibility of online learning with the discipline and interaction of traditional classrooms, sharing their own experiences and ideas with great enthusiasm.

The committee also explored the Importance of Extracurricular Activities over Academics, where students highlighted how sports, arts, and other activities shape overall personality beyond books. An engaging activity was conducted to familiarize the children with the voting process in the Lok Sabha, giving them a hands-on experience of parliamentary functioning. The lively discussions and interactive learning made the session both fun and insightful for the budding parliamentarians.

THE UN

The United Nations Committee, chaired by Ms. Simran Kaur with Ms. Tanisha Gupta as Vice Chairperson, engaged students in a thoughtful Discussion on the Need to Promote Social Media for Students and the Importance of Platforms such as YouTube in Education of Primary Students. Delegates confidently expressed how social media, if used wisely, can serve as a strong educational tool while also cautioning against its misuse. They further emphasized how platforms like YouTube make learning more creative, interactive, and accessible for young learners.

The debate was lively and insightful, with students presenting diverse perspectives on balancing the benefits of digital platforms with the need for responsible usage. The committee became a space where young voices highlighted the role of technology in shaping modern education, reflecting their clarity of thought and enthusiasm for innovative learning.

CREATIVE PRESS

The Creative Press turned into one of the most exciting committees, where students stepped into the roles of photojournalists, reporters, memers, vloggers, and writers. Each participant was allotted a media house and worked with great creativity to capture the essence of the conference from their unique lens. From drafting sharp news reports to creating witty memes and engaging vlogs, the committee showcased the power of media in shaping narratives.

The young journalists not only documented the proceedings of various committees but also added a fresh, innovative angle to every moment of the event. Their work reflected both creativity and responsibility, proving that media is not just about information but also about storytelling and expression. The Creative Press truly became the heartbeat of the conference, bringing the event alive for everyone.

INTERNATIONAL OLYMPIC COMMITTEE

The International Olympic Committee, moderated by Adv. Aditya Kaushik with Ms. Manvi Sharma as Rapporteur, witnessed an engaging Deliberation on Expanding the Scope of Olympics & Recognizing E-Sports. Delegates passionately debated the inclusion of newer sports and disciplines while also exploring the growing significance of E-Sports as a competitive field on the global stage. The discussions reflected how the spirit of the Olympics can evolve with changing times, embracing innovation while preserving tradition. The committee turned into a vibrant platform where students highlighted both opportunities and challenges of expanding the Games, showcasing their vision for a more inclusive and modern Olympic movement.

The International Olympic Committee further stood out as a platform where students not only debated the inclusion of new sports and the recognition of E-Sports but also reflected on the values of unity, fair play, and global cooperation that the Olympics symbolize. Delegates explored how the Games can evolve to remain relevant for future generations while still upholding their historic spirit. The committee encouraged participants to think like decision-makers shaping international sports policy, making it both intellectually stimulating and inspiring for all involved.

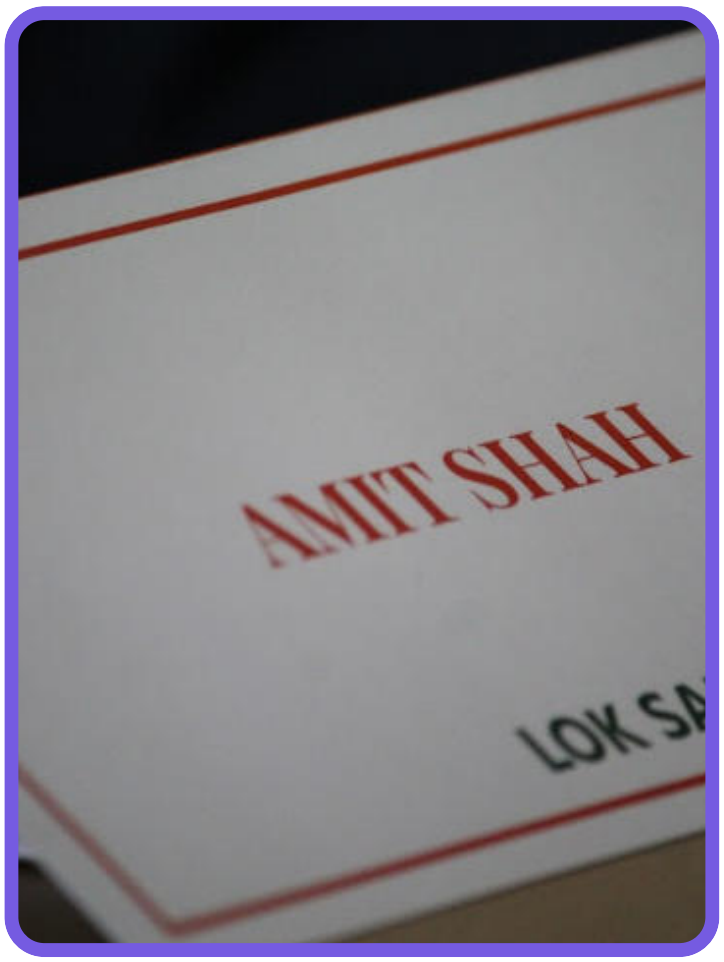
UNHRC: UNITED NATIONS HUMAN RIGHTS CONCIL

The United Nations Human Rights Council, chaired by Ms. Nnyra Chaturvedi with Ms. Sara B. Sirohi as Rapporteur, held a focused Discussion on the Humanitarian Crisis in Gaza with emphasis on aid access, civilian displacement, and medical emergencies. Delegates shared empathetic yet practical solutions, highlighting the urgent need to safeguard human rights in conflict zones. The session reflected both awareness and compassion, making the committee a strong voice for justice and humanity.

The UNHRC crisis session unfolded dramatically when news broke that UN medical aid convoys, protected under international law, had been attacked in the middle of the war zone. Delegates were shaken as the sanctity of humanitarian aid was violated, sparking urgent deliberations on accountability and protection of civilians. To deepen the impact, two students stepped into the role of survivors, sharing their harrowing experiences, which brought raw emotion and urgency to the committee. The crisis not only tested the diplomatic skills of the delegates but also reminded them of the human cost of conflict and the critical role of the UN in safeguarding lives.

LOK SABHA

The Lok Sabha Committee, with Ms. Ridam Arsh as Speaker and Archit Verma as Scribe, engaged in a dynamic Discussion on the Need to Regulate Social Media Platforms with a View to Counter Misinformation and Hate Speech. Delegates debated the fine balance between freedom of expression and responsible usage of digital platforms, stressing the dangers of unchecked misinformation and the rise of online hate. The session was marked by thoughtful arguments and constructive ideas, reflecting the delegates' keen understanding of how regulation can protect society while preserving democratic values.



The Lok Sabha crisis session took an intense turn when a leader's statement sparked riots, pushing delegates to deliberate on the sensitive question of how far freedom of speech and expression should be limited in the interest of public order. The heated debate reflected the complexity of balancing democratic rights with societal responsibility. To conclude, impactful guest speeches were delivered by DSG I Ms. Avni Chauhan from the ruling side and Secretary General Ms. Shreya Kapoor representing the opposition, both leaving the house with thought-provoking perspectives on the issue.

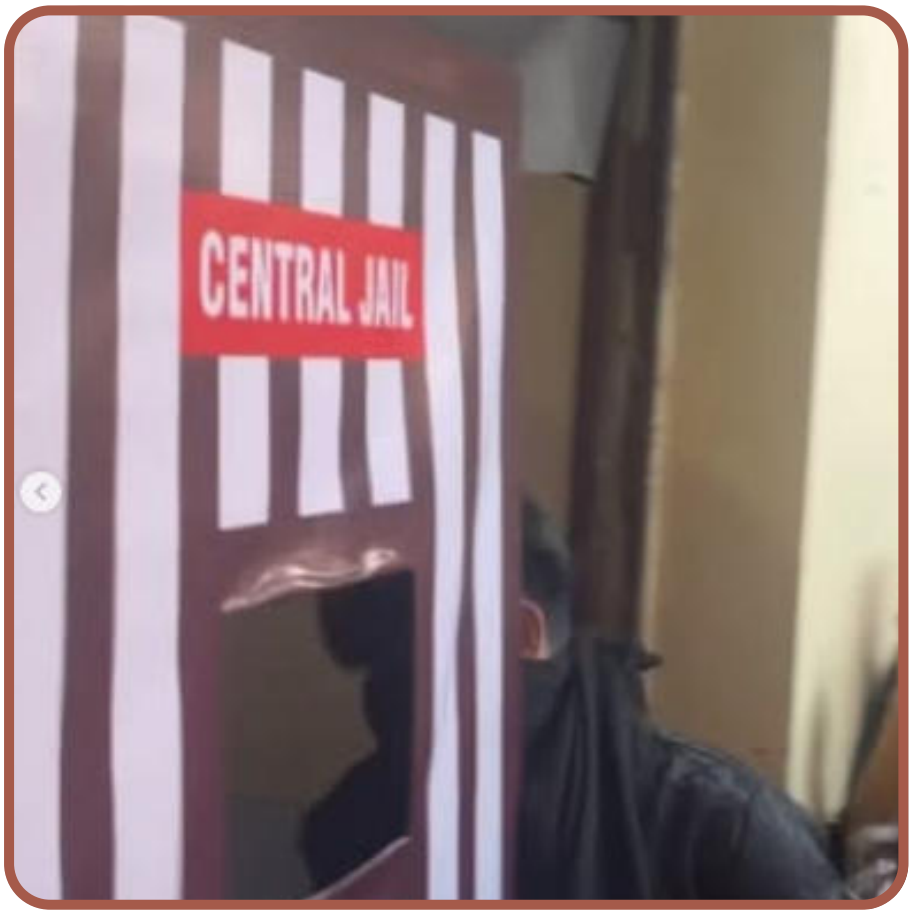
HISTORIC STAKEHOLDERS MEET

The Historic Stakeholders' Meet transported delegates back in time through a unique time machine setup with a freeze date of 25th June 1975, the day the Emergency was declared in India. Under the guidance of Moderator Mr. Ankit Rana and Advisor Mr. Parv Narendra, students engaged in intense deliberations on the political, legal, and social dimensions of the Emergency. The discussions highlighted the clash between authority and democracy, giving participants a rare chance to reflect on one of India's most critical turning points.

To deepen the experience, a crisis situation was introduced where a few members were symbolically put in jail, allowing students to truly grasp the fear, restrictions, and suppression of rights that defined that era. This unique exercise turned the committee into a living classroom of history, where participants not only debated but also experienced the challenges of democratic survival during extraordinary times.

CRISIS

The Historic Stakeholders Meet witnessed an electrifying crisis simulation that transported participants straight into the turbulent era of the 1975 Emergency. Just like those fateful days, a special "jail" was set up within the premises, recreating the atmosphere of a time when dissenting voices were silenced, and political leaders were abruptly arrested. The sudden declaration of the emergency within the simulation created a wave of chaos delegates found themselves confronted with the harsh realities of curtailed freedoms, suspension of fundamental rights, and the looming power of authoritarian governance. This unique experience gave students a visceral understanding of how democracy can be shaken and how fragile the balance of power truly is.



As the crisis unfolded, several participants were symbolically "arrested" and placed in the recreated jail, intensifying the authenticity of the simulation. Debates raged on inside the committee, with students assuming the roles of various political figures, journalists, and citizens struggling to safeguard their rights amidst an oppressive regime. The immersive environment not only sparked heated discussions on civil liberties, freedom of expression, and constitutional safeguards but also challenged participants to reflect on the importance of vigilance in protecting democratic institutions. The jail setup became the symbolic heart of the session, reminding everyone that history is not just to be read it is to be experienced, learned from, and safeguarded against repetition.

INTERNATIONAL PRESS

The International Press, led with excellence by Mr. Ajay Kumar as Director of Photography, Mr. Jatin Kapoor as Manager of the International Press, and Mr. Vansh Wadhavan as Rapporteur, emerged as one of the most dynamic committees of the conference. Students took on the roles of reporters, photographers, writers, and digital creators, each allotted to media houses to cover the proceedings with sharp reporting, creative storytelling, and powerful visuals. From capturing highlights to producing detailed reports, the International Press brought the essence of every debate to life.

Adding to their work, the committee organized press conferences for all the committees, where delegates and Executive Board members were questioned with confidence and curiosity. This not only enhanced the quality of coverage but also gave participants an authentic experience of media interactions. With professionalism, creativity, and flair, the International Press, under the able management of its team, became the voice of the conference, leaving behind a lasting record of its energy and impact.

VALEDICTORY CEREMONY

The valedictory ceremony was a fitting finale to the conference, graced by our esteemed Guest of Honour, Mr. Shiv Vats, whose inspiring words left the students highly motivated to continue their journey of learning and self-expression. The soulful musical performance added a touch of warmth and celebration, while the heartfelt address by our Principal Ma'am, Ms. Nidhi Gaur, further encouraged the young participants to embrace leadership, dialogue, and creativity in every walk of life. The Co-Founders of RYS, Adv. Isha Kapoor and Adv. Jai Saini, also shared their reflections, applauding the efforts of the students, teachers, and the organizing team in making the conference a grand success.

The ceremony also witnessed the felicitation of the Executive Board members, appreciating their guidance and dedication, followed by the much-awaited declaration of winners that filled the hall with cheers. To conclude, Secretary General Ms. Shreya Kapoor, joined by the Deputy Secretary Generals, struck the gavel, formally closing the conference amidst loud applause. The evening ended on a high note with surprise socials, leaving every participant with cherished memories of learning, laughter, and camaraderie.
